TRIBUTES TO PARTY NOMINEES

Senator Walton in naming Justice Cochrane at the Republican convention Thursday said in part:

"You are called together to perform one of the most important functions of government and how well or how ill you perform your duty depends on your action here.

This judicial district this year will elect a justice of the supreme court. The man whose name I am presenting to you for recommendation for the great office of justice of the supreme court typifies the highest type of American citizenship. His conspicuous qualities of mind and character place him in the front rank among the great jurists of our state. His good judgment and great fairness and sense of justice have won for him the respect and admiration of all. His unfailing courtesy and kindness have endeared him to everyone who has been privileged to enjoy his acquaintance. He has served on the bench for fourteen years where he has given marked evidence of his well grounded knowledge of the law, and it gives me great pleasure to present the name of Justice Aaron V. S. Cochrane of Hudson." (Applause.)

The nomination was seconded by several delegates and on motion of Supervisor Philip Schantz of Highland the secretary was directed to cast the ballot of the convention for Justice Cochrane.

Loughran For County Clerk.

Christopher K. Loughran, clerk of the board of supervisors, was placed in nomination by former Assemblyman Joseph M. Fowler of this city, who said:

"The First Ward of Kingston now has the county clerk and if my suggestion meets with your approval, the First Ward for the next three years will still have the county clerk—and he will be a Republican. (Applause.)

Twenty years ago when I first came to Kingston, I met a bald-headed little chap and I took a liking to him. Everyone else since that time has been taking a liking to him. Since that time I have known him as a friend, as an attorney, as a Republican and as a public official.

"As a friend, I found his friendship could be depended on, in fair weather and stormy weather; a friend who is the same last week, this week and three months from now.

"As a lawyer, I found him well versed in the knowledge of the law, a clear thinker and reasoner and a good counsel.

"As a Republican, I found him a hard working, loyal member of the party. For a number of years he served as secretary of the Republican county committee. The ordinary citizen does not know what that means. The work of the committee devolves on the secretary. While the chairman gets the honor—and the ensuing when things go wrong—it is the secretary who does the work. Under our election system, there are all sorts of things for the secretary to do.

"The board of supervisors is the most important body in our county; in fact, it is the county. The supervisors know what a painstaking, careful clerk means to the county, and the gentlemen I have in mind has worked long and faithfully and hard, and where he would get public applause, but working steadily all the while, and I know of no one more entitled to recognition by the Republican party than Christopher K. Loughran of the city of Kingston." (Applause.)

Supervisor Schantz of Highland, in seconding the nomination, said that Southern Ulster would stand by him solidly and elect him.

On motion of Mr. Fowler, the secretary was directed to cast the ballot of the convention for Mr. Loughran.

Mr. Fowler and Mr. Schantz were appointed a committee to bring Mr. Loughran before the convention.

Mr. Loughran's appearance was greeted with applause, and in accepting the nomination he said:

"As one to be recommended by this representative body of men gathered here today, it is little to say that I thank you. There is honor in receiving a recommendation at your hands and it is with heartfelt gratitude that I thank you.

"Eleven years ago it was my good fortune—for hard work is always pleasant—to be called into the supervisor's room and to be informed that I had been chosen secretary of the county committee.

"I didn't know what it meant then. For eight years I acted as the secretary and then I was relegated to the bench, to hold the position of treasurer (laughter). So you may know that nobody can doubt my Republicanism and in all that time it has been a pleasant duty for me to work with the Republican committee.

Assemblyman DeWitt Re-designated.

Delegates from the First Assembly district were called on to recommend a designation a candidate for assemblyman, and Assemblyman Henry R. DeWitt of this city was nominated by George F. Kaufman of Saugerties.

Mr. Kaufman said:

"In placing in nomination a candidate for assemblyman, it is not mine to call attention to certain conditions which unquestionably require the presence in the legislature of a representative who is not only competent and efficient but who has had experience in legislative work.

"I refer to the fact that the Constitutional Convention is now in session, the first convention of its kind since 1894. It is apparent the work of this convention, if adopted, will make momentous changes in the government of this state, but the Constitutional Convention simply recommends certain broad provisions. There are provisions for home rule, provisions for the judiciary and there may be a provision for woman suffrage. But while the Constitutional Convention simply recommends certain broad provisions, it leaves to the legislature the duty of supplying the details and the machinery for carrying out these provisions, if they are adopted. The convention simply prepares the framework on which the legislature works out the details, and you can appreciate from this fact the importance of being represented in the legislature by men of experience.

"What this district wants is an assemblyman who is amply qualified for the work, who is efficient, on the level and on his job, and who has the experience which the situation demands, and all these qualities and more you will find in Henry R. DeWitt of Kingston, whom it is my privilege to place in nomination." (Applause.)

The nomination was seconded by Matthew H. Herzog of the Twelfth ward, and on motion of former Mayor A. W. Thompson, the secretary was directed to cast the ballot for Mr. DeWitt.

Mr. Kaufman and Ex-Mayor Thompson were appointed a committee to bring Mr. DeWitt before the convention, and he was received with applause.

In responding, Mr. DeWitt said:

"I thank you for your action in recommending me for the nomination for member of assembly to represent once more the First Assembly district of Ulster. Perhaps as never before I appreciate the honor conferred on me, and when I say that I mean it, it comes from the bottom of my heart, because as your action shows, you not only have confidence in me but you appreciate my honest and conscientious efforts to faithfully represent Ulster county. (Applause.)

"For the past four years the main duty of your representatives at Albany has been to defeat all bills which New York city has sought to have passed in its effort to escape taxation. During my incumbency there I am proud to say that no such bill has been passed, but it is becoming harder and harder to prevent their passage, for the reason that while at first the city of New York introduced bills only affecting New York, it has latterly introduced bills affecting every municipality having its own water system in order to get support through the dissatisfaction created by the inequitable assessment of their water works property. In my first year at Albany, such a bill was introduced but I am glad to say that it was defeated. And in this work I am proud to say that I was largely aided by the representative of the Second district of Ulster, Mr. Lefever.

"This year finds nearly every delegate at Albany under the control of the Republican party. We were elected on a platform which promised beneficial changes for the state and it is up to us to make good. This year it is especially important that the Republican party should retain control of the assembly so that reforms which have been planned and which have been begun but have not been completed may be carried to a successful conclusion. Many reforms have been started and many of them have been carried out, but you cannot reform a state of the size of New York in one year.

"I thank you for your confidence in me, and if elected, I will use my utmost efforts to protect and further the interests of Ulster county at all times." (Applause.)

Assemblyman Lefever Re-designated.

Assemblyman Abram P. Lefever was nominated by former Congressman Frank J. LeFevre, who referred briefly to the honor and distinction with which he had served. He was entitled to a renomination and election, he said, and if the convention attended to the former, he felt certain the people would look after his re-election. Congressman LeFevre's nominating speech was received with applause.

On motion of H. Pratt of Highland, the secretary was directed to cast the convention's ballot for Mr. Lefever, and Mr. Pratt and Congressman Lefever were appointed a committee to bring Assemblyman Lefever before the convention.

Assemblyman Lefever briefly thanked the convention and said that if re-nominated and re-elected, he would take care that the convention should have no reason to regret its action. His acceptance speech was received with applause.

Canfield Designated.

The city convention was called to order by Chairman Philip Elting, who explained that the first order was the endorsement of a candidate for the office of mayor to be voted for at the primaries.

Former District Attorney Frederick Stephan, Jr., was recognized by the chair and said in part: "The candidate for mayor of this city needs to be a man well known for his ability as a lawyer, politician and shrewd business man and that the man I am about to place in nomination is endowed with these qualities is proven by his acts as shown by his administration of the city's affairs in the past year and a half. Two years ago we were confronted with the fact that we needed a man who would win. And we picked up a young man. His ability prevailed. He showed what he could do as a politician and a lawyer. He won out. The young man was elected. There were many men who doubted his ability because of his youth and inexperience with city affairs. The for his ability. In every turn of the city we find what good work he has done for the city. I refer to Palmer Canfield, Jr. (loud applause.) He has shown what he is able to do. Let him continue in his good work. Let us nominate him and elect him which is assured on his nomination."

There was no other names for the office and the secretary on motion of E. Otis Van Aken cast one ballot for Palmer Canfield, Jr. for mayor.

Mayor Canfield was then designated by the chairman as the choice of the convention for the designation for the candidacy for mayor.

Ex-Mayor Crane Designated.

In placing the candidate for the recommendation for designation of the office of alderman at large former Assemblyman Joseph M. Fowler, said: "It is as the mayor has said a newly created office and the office will require a man who could serve as mayor in the absence or illness of the mayor and serve as the presiding officer of the common council. It will give the common council an additional man who will have the appointing of the various committees. It requires a man who is familiar with the operation of the city's departments and a man who knows how to handle the city's affairs as they are handled at present. As I look about I see a good Republican who has served us in the city government and served us well and because of his past services in behalf of the city I take great pleasure in nominating former Mayor Walter P. Crane for the recommendation for designation for the office of alderman at large."

Mr. Tammany moved that the secretary cast one ballot for Mr. Crane which was done and Mr. Crane was declared the choice of the convention for the designation for the office.

EXPECT CAMPAIGN AGAINST VERDUN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Amsterdam, Aug. 27.—New German drives in the western war theater particularly a great campaign against Verdun. France, mightiest fortress, are forecasted in advices received here today from Berlin. These reports state that 100,000 German troops who have been participating in the eastern struggles are now on their way to Alsace and Lorraine with the heavy artillery that battered the fortifications of Novo Georgievsk.

General Van Besseler, who directed the artillery operations against Antwerp and Novo Georgievsk, is said to be accompanying the German artillery west.

Verdun has proven a stumbling block to the Germans in the west as Warsaw was in the east. The Polish fortress finally fell as the result of German flanking movements. The same policy probably will be tried in the west by smashing attacks in the Argonne and on the St. Mihiel salient. Success in either region would permit the Germans to bring their guns to bear upon Verdun.

Turks Repel Allies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Constantinople, via Berlin wireless, Aug. 27.—Repulse of an attack by allied troops against the Turkish left wing on Gallipoli peninsula was announced by the war office today. The official statement follows: "Weak forces attacked our left wing at Sedd-el-Bahr, but were dispersed. On the Anafarta, Av-Burnu and Sedd-el-Bahr fronts the enemy maintained a strong artillery fire, wasting ammunition."

FORGED CHECK, QUICKLY CAUGHT

Roy Roosa, a sixteen year old negro youth, was arrested on Thursday afternoon by Policeman Ryan for attempting to cash a forged check at the State of New York National Bank on Wall street. This morning Roosa was arraigned before Recorder Andrew Lang at his office, No. 12 East Strand, on a charge of forgery in the first degree. Roosa waived examination and was held to await action of the grand jury, bail being fixed at $1,000. The young man was employed as pantryman at the residence of the Misses Forsyth, No. 41 Pearl street.

Thursday afternoon Roosa entered the bank a few minutes before closing time and presented a check made out on one of the bank's forms and drawn payable to the order of "J. D. Roosa" and signed with the forged signature of P. R. Forsyth. The amount called for by the check was $15.16. The cashier as he received the check saw at a glance that the signature of Miss Forsyth had been forged and he asked Roosa to wait a minute Roosa did so and Policeman Ryan who was passing the bank was called and placed the young man under arrest and took him to the county jail where he was locked up over night.

Roosa told Policeman Ryan at the time he was arrested that a man at the ferry had given him the check and had asked him to get it cashed for him. A search of the docks along the Rondout by the police failed to discover any one answering the description furnished by Roosa. This morning Roosa told Recorder Lang that the strange man had said he would give him a dollar if he would cash the check for him.

An investigation of the affair by Chief Wood disclosed the fact that two blank checks had been torn from the check book of the Misses Forsyth. They were number 112 and 113. The forged check presented by Roosa was No. 113. What became of the other blank check is not known. Roosa was carefully searched by the authorities but the missing check was not found on his person.

The police after investigating the story told by Roosa as to how the check came into his possession believe that Roosa is not telling the truth.

WILL DISCUSS LOCAL CHARITIES

Some time ago at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce a committee consisting of Sam Bernstein, Everett Fowler and W. F. Rafferty was appointed to take up the question of establishing a bureau of associated charities in Kingston. This committee has had several conferences with Mayor Canfield and the Commissioners of Charity of the city and in accordance with the suggestion of Mayor Canfield a meeting will be held in the common council chambers at the city hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to consider the advisability of establishing such a bureau in Kingston. All citizens are invited to attend and churches, benevolent orders and lodges are urged to send representatives to the meeting.

Lockwood Barn Burned.

The barn on the Lockwood farm on the plank road near the old toll gate was destroyed by fire about six o'clock this morning. At the time the fire broke out James and Edward Lockwood, who run the farm, were busy milking and were enabled to get all of the cattle and horses out of the burning structure. There was about fifty tons of hay stored in the barn as well as the summer crops all of which were destroyed. The origin of the fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in the hay.

BURNED TO DEATH AT THE PRESIDIO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Francisco Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Pershing, wife of General Pershing in charge of federal troops at El Paso, and her three children were burned to death early today in their home in the officers' section of the Presidio.

The fire that cost the lives of Mrs. Pershing, Margaret, aged 3, Anna, aged 6, and Helen, aged 8, was discovered at five o'clock this morning. The entire section of the building was gutted. Mrs. Walter O. Boswell, wife of Lieut. Boswell, her two children, their nurse maid and Warren Pershing, aged 5, were rescued by firemen.

After the fire was extinguished the bodies of Mrs. Pershing and her three young daughters were found lying under Mrs. Pershing's bed. They had evidently crawled under the bed to escape the suffocating smoke. The position in which the bodies were found indicated that all of them had suffered before the end came.

GERMANY'S PLEDGE EXPECTED SOON

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Germany's pledge that American lives will be safeguarded on the high seas is expected to reach Count Von Bernstorff at any moment. He said at the embassy today that he was awaiting further instructions from his government, which he will communicate to the state department. These instructions, Ambassador Gerard already has reported, are a flat statement that Germany will "reduce to writing" an agreement that, pending further negotiations she will conduct her submarine warfare along the lines insisted upon by recognized international law. The German ambassador explained today that he had been advised that an "important communication" either was en route from Berlin or soon would be, and that he has decided to remain in Washington until it arrives, and its contents have been communicated to Secretary Lansing.

The incident of the Arabic sinking seemingly has been put aside for the present. The United States has accepted Germany's assurances that adequate reparation will be made. Germany, Ambassador Gerard has told this government, will disavow the act if her responsibility is shown by the reports of her submarine commander, and will make such amends as are proper. The assurances that such a tragedy will not be repeated will be conveyed in a statement to be communicated to this government that hereafter no merchant vessel carrying Americans will be sunk without adequate warning. The state department withheld the text of three cable messages received from Ambassador Gerard, simply stating that he had sent word that such a tragedy will not be repeated. It is believed that following the receipt of President Wilson's last communication the orders had been issued to submarine commanders regarding their policies and they were directed to give ample warning before attacking merchant vessels.

At the German embassy it was stated today that no appointment had yet been made for the ambassador's next conference with Secretary Lansing. He will not see the secretary until he has received the messages from Berlin. It is known, however, that when the ambassador left the secretary yesterday he was told that he would be received at any time and that no fixed appointment would be necessary.

Bombards Soldiers With Poems.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rome, Aug. 27.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, the firebrand Italian poet, has made another aerial flight over the Austrian lines, dropping copies of a poem of his own composition imploring the Teutonic soldiers to yield to the Italians. This was his second flight. A dispatch from Udine today stated that D'Annunzio returned safely although his machine had been heavily attacked by high angle guns east of Montfalcone.

Trolley Strike in Holyoke.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 27.—The trolley employees of Holyoke went out on strike for second time this month. The tie-up was unexpected and mill hands and workmen had great difficulty in getting to work. The direct cause of the strike is a disagreement as to how long the new contract between the men and the company shall run. The men want it to run one year and the company three years.

Killed in Auto Accident.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Camden, N. J. Aug. 27.—Two women are dead and three other persons seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident near here early today. The dead are Miss Anna V. Potts, 50, Germantown, and Miss Emily Potts, 43, Germantown. George T. Pusey, boarder in the Potts home, died from his injuries. A tire blew out and when the driver applied the brakes the machine turned turtle.

RUSSIAN LINES ARE SHATTERED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Under the incessant battering of the German and Austro-Hungarian troops the entire Russian second line of defense has been shattered and it is impossible to say where the Russians will attempt to establish a third line.

Without any let-up in their great offensive, the Teutonic allies are still surging forward all along the front and if they penetrate much further into Russia they will be in a position to split up the Russian army into several parts.

All of Poland is now under German domination.

Following the capture of Brest Litovsk, the main fortress on the second line, the Germans have occupied Bielestok.

Occupation of Grodno is expected within the next forty eight hours as the taking of Brest Litovsk and Bielestok has made the Russian position at Grodno untenable. It is announced that Emperor William will shortly go to Brest Litovsk to confer decorations, congratulate the victorious troops, and view the captured Russian stronghold.

The great railway system leading southward from East Prussia through Oswiec Bielestok and Biala, Brest Litovsk and Kovno is entirely in the possession of the Austro-German forces from Kovel to the German frontier.

The capture of Brest Litovsk represents an advance of 125 miles from the Bavarian army under Prince Leopold within less than a month.

German military critics predict that unless the Teutonic forces are able to trap the bulk of the Russian armies within the next ten days campaign the Austro-German troops will continue their offensive until all of northwestern Russia is held by them and the Russians are driven into the interior close to Moscow.

A battle has developed east of Mitau, where the Russians made a strong stand.

The capture of Brest Litovsk, regarded as a military achievement of the highest order by German military critics, caused another great wave of rejoicing throughout Germany and patriotic demonstrations which began yesterday were continued today.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Clayton Smith was out in a canoe in the Hudson river on Thursday afternoon when the waves from the Day Line steamer upset the boat throwing the young man into the river. He was unable to swim and a large crowd of excited spectators soon gathered. As the young man was sinking John Q. Smith, superintendent at Kingston Point, Paul Coutant and Edward Anderson jumped into a rowboat and went to his assistance pulling Smith out of the water. When Smith first went out in the canoe there was a young lady with him but she had gotten out of the canoe before it tipped over. The fact that there had been seen a young woman with him caused the spectators to think that she had been drowned until Smith when he was brought ashore said that he was alone at the time the canoe tipped over.

Connelly Walked to New York.

George Connelly who disappeared while hiking from his cottage in Phenicia to this city to take a train for Catskill, arrived at his home in New York city yesterday. Word was sent to Phenicia and Deputy Sheriff Lewis was notified and he in turn notified Sheriff Shults. The suspicion of the sheriff that the man was hiking to his home in New York city evidently was well founded.

The nomination was seconded by several delegates and on motion of Supervisor Philip Schantz of Highland the secretary was directed to cast the ballot of the convention for Judge Cochran.

Loughran For County Clerk.

Christopher K. Loughran, clerk of the board of supervisors, was placed in nomination by former Assemblyman Joseph M. Fowler of this city, who said:

"The First Ward of Kingston now has the county clerk and if my suggestion meets with your approval, the First Ward for the next three years will still have the county clerk—but he will be a Republican." (Applause.)

"Twenty years ago when I first came to Kingston I met a bald-headed little fellow and I took a liking to him. Everyone else since that time has been taking a liking to him. Since that time I have known him as a friend, as an attorney, as a Republican and as a public official."

"The board of supervisors is the most important body in our county; in fact, it is the county. The supervisors know what a painstaking, careful clerk means to the county, and the gentlemen I have in mind have worked long and faithfully and hard, for where he would get public applause, but working steadily all the while, and I know of no one more entitled to recognition by the Republican party than Christopher K. Loughran of the city of Kingston." (Applause.)

Supervisor Schantz of Highland, in seconding the nomination, said that Southern Ulster would stand by him solidly and elect him.

On motion of Mr. Fowler, the secretary was directed to cast the ballot of the convention for Mr. Loughran. Mr. Fowler and Mr. Schantz were appointed a committee to bring Mr. Loughran before the convention.

Mr. Loughran's appearance was greeted with applause, and in accepting the nomination he said:

"As one to be recommended by this representative body of men, I thank you today. It is little to say that I thank you. There is honor in receiving a recommendation at your hands and it is with heartfelt gratitude that I thank you."

"Eleven years ago it was my good fortune to be called into the supervisor's room and to be informed that I had been chosen secretary of the county committee."

"I did not know what it meant then. For eight years I acted as the secretary and then I was relegated to the back, to hold the position of treasurer (laughter). So you may know that nobody can doubt my Republicanism and in all that time it has been a pleasant duty for me to work with the Republican committee."

Mr. Loughran said:

"In placing in nomination a candidate for assemblyman, it is not to call attention to certain

But while the Constitutional Convention simply recommends certain broad provisions, it leaves to the legislature the duty of supplying the details and the machinery for carrying out these provisions, if they are adopted. The convention simply prepares the framework on which the legislature works out the details, and you can appreciate from this fact the importance of being represented in the legislature by men of experience."

"What this district wants is an assemblyman who is amply qualified for the work, who is efficient, on the level and on his job, and who has the experience which the situation demands, and all these qualities and more you will find in Henry R. DeWitt of Kingston, whom it is my privilege to place in nomination." (Applause.)

The nomination was seconded by Matthew H. Herzog of the Twelfth ward, and on motion of Former Mayor A. W. Thompson, the secretary was directed to cast the ballot for Mr. DeWitt.

Mr. Kaufman and Ex-Mayor Thompson were appointed a committee to bring Mr. DeWitt before the convention, and he was received with applause.

In responding, Mr. DeWitt said: "I thank you for your action in recommending me for the nomination for member of assembly to represent the First Assembly district of Ulster. Perhaps as never before I appreciate the honor conferred on me, and when I say that I mean it, I mean it from the bottom of my heart. I want your action shows, you not only have confidence in me, but you appreciate my honest and conscientious efforts to faithfully represent Ulster county." (Applause.)

"For the past four years the main duty of your representatives at Albany has been to defeat all bills which New York city has sought to have passed in its effort to escape taxation. During my incumbency there, I am proud to say that no such bill has been passed, but it is becoming harder and harder to prevent their passage, for the reason that while at first the city of New York introduced bills only affecting New York, it has latterly introduced bills affecting every municipality within its own water system in order to get its support through the dissatisfaction created by the inequitable assessment of their water works property."

"In my first year at Albany, such a bill was introduced but I failed to save it and it was defeated, and in this work I am proud to say that I was largely aided by the representative of the Second district of Ulster, Mr. LeFever."

"This year finds nearly every department at Albany under the control of the Republican party. We were elected on a platform which promised beneficial changes for the state and it is up to us to make good. This year it is especially important that the Republican party should retain control of the assembly so that reforms which have been planned and which have been begun but have not been completed may be carried to a successful conclusion. Many reforms have been started and many of them have been carried out, but you cannot reform a state of the size of New York in one year."

"I thank you for your confidence in me, and if elected, I will use my utmost efforts to protect and further the interests of Ulster county at all times." (Applause.)

Assemblyman LeFever re-designated.

Assemblyman Abram P. LeFever was nominated by former Congressman Frank J. LeFever, who referred briefly to the honor and distinction with which he had served. He was entitled to a re-nomination and re-election, he said, and if the convention attended to the former, he felt certain the people would look after his re-election. Congressman LeFever's nominating speech was received with applause.

On motion of Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, the secretary was directed to cast the ballot for Mr. LeFever. Mr. Pratt and Congressman LeFever were appointed a committee to bring Assemblyman LeFever before the convention.

Assemblyman LeFever briefly thanked the convention and said that if re-nominated and re-elected, he would take care that the convention should have no reason to regret its action. His acceptance speech was received with applause.

Canfield Designated.

The city convention was called to order by Chairman Philip Elting, who explained that the first order was the endorsement of a candidate for the office of mayor to be voted for at the primaries.

Former District Attorney Frederick Stephen, Jr., was recognized by the chair and said in part: "The candidate for mayor of this city needs to be a man well known for his ability as a lawyer, politician and shrewd business man and that the man I am about to place in nomination is endowed with these qualities."

is proven by his acts as shown by his administration of the city's affairs in the past year and a half. Two years ago we were confronted with the fact that we needed a man who would win. And he picked up a young man. His ability prevailed. He showed what he could do as a politician and a lawyer. He won Philip Phillips, John Ballard, Uriah city in its present condition speaks for his ability. In every turn of the city we find what good work he has done for the city. I refer to Palmer Canfield, Jr. (Loud applause.) He has shown what he is able to do. Let him continue in his good work. Let us nominate him and elect him which is assured on his nomination."

There was no other names for the office and the secretary on motion of E. Otis Van Aken cast one ballot for Palmer Canfield, Jr. for mayor.

Mayor Canfield was then designated by the chairman as the choice of the convention for the designation for the candidacy for mayor.

Ex-Mayor Crane Designated.

In placing the candidate for the recommendation for designation of the office of alderman at large former Assemblyman Joseph M. Fowler, said: "It is as the mayor has said a newly created office and the office will require a man who could serve as mayor in the absence or illness of the mayor and serve as the presiding officer of the common council. It will give the common council an additional man who will have the appointment of the various committees. It requires a man who is familiar with the operation of the city's departments and a man who knows how to handle the city's affairs as they are handled at present. As I look about I see a good Republican who has served us in the city government and served us well and because of his past services in behalf of the city I take great pleasure in nominating former Mayor Walter P. Crane for the recommendation for designation for the office of alderman at large."

Mr. Tammany moved that the secretary cast one ballot for Mr. Crane which was done and Mr. Crane was declared the choice of the convention for the designation for the office.

FORGED CHECK, QUICKLY CAUGHT

Roy Roosa, a sixteen year old negro youth, was arrested on Thursday afternoon by Policeman Ryan for attempting to cash a forged check at the State of New York National Bank on Wall street. This morning Roosa was arraigned before Recorder Andrew Lang at his office, No. 12 East Strand, on a charge of forgery in the first degree. Roosa waived examination and was held to await action of the grand jury, bail being fixed at $1,000. The young man was employed as pantryman at the residence of the Misses Forsyth, No. 41 Pearl street.

Thursday afternoon Roosa entered the bank a few minutes before closing time and presented a check made out on one of the bank's forms and drawn payable to the order of "J. D. Roosa" and signed with the forged signature of P. R. Forsyth. The amount called for by the check was $12.16. The cashier as he received the check saw at a glance that the signature of Miss Forsyth had been forged and he asked Roosa to wait a minute Roosa did so and Policeman Ryan who was passing the bank was called and placed the young man under arrest and took him to the county jail where he was locked up over night.

Roosa told Policeman Ryan at the time he was arrested that a man at the ferry had given him the check and had asked him to get it cashed for him. A search of the docks along the Rondout by the police failed to discover any one answering the description furnished by Roosa. This morning Roosa told Recorder Lang that the strange man had said he would give him a dollar if he would cash the check for him.

An investigation of the affair by Chief Wood disclosed the fact that two blank checks had been torn from the check book of the Misses Forsyth. They were number 112 and 113. The forged check presented by Roosa was number 112. What became of the other blank check is not known. Roosa was carefully searched by the authorities but the missing check was not found on his person.

The police after investigating the story told by Roosa as to how the check came into his possession believe that Roosa is not telling the truth.

WILL DISCUSS LOCAL CHARITIES

Some time ago at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce a committee consisting of Sam Bernstein, Everett Fowler and W. F. Rafferty was appointed to take up the question of establishing a bureau of associated charities in Kingston. This committee has had several conferences with Mayor Canfield and the Commissioners of Charity of the city and in accordance with the suggestion of Mayor Canfield a meeting will be held in the common council chambers at the city hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to consider the advisability of establishing such a bureau in Kingston. All citizens are invited to attend and churches, benevolent orders and lodges are urged to send representatives to the meeting.

Lockwood Barn Burned.

The barn on the Lockwood farm on the plank road near the old toll gate was destroyed by fire about six o'clock this morning. At the time the fire broke out James and Edward Lockwood, who run the farm, were busy milking and were unable to get all of the cattle and horses out of the burning structure. There was about fifty tons of hay stored in the barn as well as the summer crops all of which were destroyed. The origin of the fire is thought to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in the hay.

Turks Repel Allies.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Constantinople, via Berlin wireless, Aug. 27.—Repulse of an attack by allied troops against the Turkish left wing on Gallipoli peninsula was announced by the war office today. The official statement follows: "Weak forces attacked our left wing at Sedd-el-Bahr, but were dispersed. On the Anafarta, Avl-Burnu and Sedd-el-Bahr fronts the enemy maintained a strong artillery fire, wasting ammunition."

BURNED TO DEATH AT THE PRESIDIO

By Telegram to The Freeman. San Francisco Aug. 27.—Mrs. J. J. Pershing, wife of General Pershing in charge of federal troops at El Paso, and her three children were burned to death early today in their home in the officers' section of the Presidio.

The fire that cost the lives of Mrs. Pershing, Margaret, aged 3, Anna, aged 6, and Helen, aged 8, was discovered at five o'clock this morning. The entire section of the building was gutted. Mrs. Walter O. Boswell, wife of Lieut. Boswell, her two children, their nurse maid and Warren Pershing, aged 5, were rescued by firemen.

After the fire was extinguished the bodies of Mrs. Pershing and her three young daughters were found lying under Mrs. Pershing's bed. They had evidently crawled under the bed to escape the suffocating smoke. The position in which the bodies were found indicated that all of them had suffered before the end came.

GERMANY'S PLEDGE EXPECTED SOON

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Aug. 27.—Germany's pledge that American lives will be safeguarded on the high seas is expected to reach Count Von Bernstorff at any moment. He said at the embassy today that he was awaiting further instructions from his government, which he will communicate to the state department. These instructions, Ambassador Gerard already has reported, are a flat statement that Germany will "reduce to writing" an agreement that, pending further negotiations she will conduct her submarine warfare along the lines insisted upon by recognized international law. The German ambassador explained today that he had been advised that an "important communication" either via en route from Berlin or soon would be, and that he has decided to remain in Washington until it arrives, and its contents have been communicated to Secretary Lansing.

The incident of the Arabic sinking seemingly has been put aside for the present. The United States has accepted Germany's assurances that adequate reparation will be made. Germany, Ambassador Gerard has told this government, will disavow the act if her responsibility is shown by the reports of her submarine commander, and will make such amends as are proper. The assurances that such a tragedy will not be repeated will be conveyed in a statement to be communicated to this government that hereafter no merchant vessel carrying Americans will be sunk without adequate warning. The state department withheld the text of three cable messages received from Ambassador Gerard, simply stating that he had sent word that foreign minister Von Jagow had informed him that following the receipt of President Wilson's last communication the orders had been issued to submarine commanders regarding their policies and they were directed to give ample warning before attacking merchant vessels.

At the German embassy it was stated today that no appointment had yet been made for the ambassador's next conference with Secretary Lansing. He will not see the secretary until he has received the messages from Berlin. It is known, however, that when the ambassador left the secretary yesterday he was told that he would be received at any time and that no fixed appointment would be necessary.

Bombards Soldiers With Poems.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Rome, Aug. 27.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, the firebrand Italian poet, has made another airplane flight over the Austrian lines, dropping copies of a poem of his own composition imploring the Teutonic soldiers to yield to the Italians. This was his second flight. A dispatch from Udine today stated that d'Annunzio returned safely although his machine had been heavily attacked by high angle guns east of Montefalcone.

Trolley Strike in Holyoke.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 27.—The trolley employees of Holyoke went out on strike for second time this month. The tie-up was unexpected and mill hands and workmen had great difficulty in getting to work. The direct cause of the strike is a disagreement as to how long the new contract between the men and the company shall run. The men want it to run one year and the company three years.

Killed in Auto Accident.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Camden, N. J., Aug. 27.—Two women are dead and three other persons seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident near here early today. The dead are Miss Anna V. Potts, 50, Germantown, and Miss Emily Potts, 43, Germantown. George T. Puzey, boarder in the Potts home, will die from his injuries. A life blew out and when the driver applied the brakes the machine turned turtle.

RUSSIAN LINES ARE SHATTERED

By Telegram to The Freeman. Berlin, Aug. 27.—Under the incessant battering of the German and Austro-Hungarian troops the entire Russian second line of defense has been shattered and it is impossible to say where the Russians will attempt to establish a third line.

Without any let-up in their great offensive, the Teutonic allies are still surging forward all along the front and if they penetrate much further into Russia they will be in a position to split up the Russian army into several parts.

All of Poland is now under German domination.

Following the capture of Brest Litovsk, the main fortress on the second line, the Germans have occupied Bielestok.

Occupation of Grodno is expected within the next forty eight hours as the taking of Brest Litovsk and Bielestok has made the Russian position at Grodno untenable. It is announced that Emperor William will shortly go to Brest Litovsk to confer decorations, congratulate the victorious troops, and view the captured Russian stronghold.

The great railway system leading southward from East Prussia through Ostrowiec Bielestok and Biala, Brest Litovsk and Kovno is entirely in the possession of the Austro-German forces from Kovel to the German frontier.

The capture of Brest Litovsk represents an advance of 125 miles by the Bavarian army under Prince Leopold within less than a month.

German military critics predict that unless the Teutonic forces are able to trap the bulk of the Russian armies within the next ten days campaign the Austro-German troops will continue their offensive until all of northwestern Russia is held by them and the Russians are driven into the interior close to Moscow.

A battle has developed east of Mitau, where the Russians made a strong stand.

The capture of Brest Litovsk regarded as a military achievement of the highest order by German military critics, caused another great wave of rejoicing throughout Germany and patriotic demonstrations which began yesterday were continued today.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Clayton Smith was out in a canoe in the Hudson river on Thursday afternoon when the waves from the Day Line steamer upset the boat throwing the young man into the river. He was unable to swim and a large crowd of excited spectators soon gathered. As the young man was sinking John Q. Smith, superintendent at Kingston Point, Paul Contant and Edward Anderson jumped into a rowboat and went to his assistance pulling Smith out of the water. When Smith first went out in the canoe there was a young lady with him but she had gotten out of the canoe before it tipped over. The fact that there had been seen a young woman with him caused the spectators to think that she had been drowned until Smith when he was brought ashore said that he was alone at the time the canoe tipped over.

Electric Lights For Kerhonkson.

Dr. Kirchoff of New York, who has a large summer home at Kerhonkson, is making extensive improvements to same. He is having his barn, garage and gatekeeper's cottage equipped with a rural electric lighting plant, which consists of a storage battery electric generator and a New Way air cooled gasoline engine. The complete equipment is being furnished by the Canfield Supply Company.

Connolly Walked to New York.

George Connolly who disappeared while hiking from his cottage in Phenicia to this city to take a train for Catskill, arrived at his home in New York city yesterday. Word was sent to Phenicia and Deputy Sheriff Lewis was notified and he in turn notified Sheriff Shultis. The suspicion of the sheriff that the man was hiking to his home in New York city evidently was well founded.

No Hit in This Game.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 27.—A double no-hit game was the novel feature in the contest between Fort Scott and Rich Hill. Neither Shinn or the opposing pitchers allowed a hit, an error striking Fort Scott the only run of the game.

Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction

By RUTH GRAHAM

For Young Folks

Teddy Roosevelt 3d is a happy outdoor youngster.

© 1915, by American Press Association.

When a story is ready made there is nothing to tell it. This tale, the product of which really happened, is one of the improbable kind which go to prove that truth is stranger than fiction. The only chance in it from the truth is the names of the actors and the location.

We must go back to that period when a French army was thrown into Belgium; when the French gathered their forces to defend their capital and the British crossed the channel to assist them. It was not there that our story begins, but in a colony of the British empire. War had not yet opened when a girl and her mother in Canada were discussing a ball dress for the former, though the girl was more interested in the expected appearance at the ball of an Englishman than in her apparel.

"I hear," said Edith Warren to her mother, "that a son of the MacDermonds has come out from bonny Scotland to see his father and mother. Maybe he will be at the Scotia ball this evening."

"I think," replied her mother, "that you had better wear your pink silk to the ball. Edith, it is just the shade for your complexion."

Edith wore her pink silk to the Scotia ball and met Ian MacDermott, a captain in a Scotch regiment. Whether it was the dress or Edith's beauty or her charming manners that won the captain there is no record. Certain it is that he won her and he carried her to his home in Scotland from her home in America on a honeymoon trip.

Surely had the newly wedded pair been settled in their home in Edinburgh when England declared war against Germany and threw a force across the channel into France. The honeymoon of the MacDermonds had not ended before the captain had an adieu to his bride and went in command of his company to the front.

One night the English and Germans met in a hot fight. MacDermott's regiment was killed to a man around a sacred sacred force. The captain was struck by a fragment of a shell and lay on the field among the dead and wounded. Then the British rallied and recovered the lost ground.

When it became possible for the Red Cross and the army surgeons to rescue the wounded a surgeon, coming upon the body of Captain MacDermott, took the identification tag from it and returned him dead.

It was a sharp blow to the bride when she received news of the death of her husband. She gave up her home in Edinburgh and removed to another city, but only temporarily, for she designed to return to her father's in America. She was not able to leave at once, but as soon as arrangements could be made she sailed from a Scotch port for New York.

There was the usual bustle upon the sailing of a steamer. Mrs. MacDermott stood on the deck looking out upon the country in which so much happiness had been expected, crying over the wreck of her hopes. The announcement had been made that all who were to go ashore must leave. When time had expired for this an order was given to draw in the gang-plank.

At this moment an auto came dashing up on the dock, sounding signals for persons to get out of the way. Evidently some isolated passenger had arrived, and the landing in of the gang-plank ceased. An officer in uniform jumped from the car and hurried aboard the ship.

A thrill shot through the breast of the woman in mourning. She saw in the newcomer her husband. Was she dreaming? Impossible! Had she been deceived by the shock of passing suddenly from a bride to a widow? Her hair was in a whirl until the officer came up on the deck, spotted her and, turning toward her, clasped her in his arms.

We left a woman MacDermott on the dock of the identification tag taken from his body. Later while the work of removing the wounded was in progress a surgeon coming upon MacDermott saw signs of life in him. The captain was removed to a field hospital. Then he was sent across the channel and placed in a regularly organized hospital for the sick and wounded of the war. There he lay for a long while unconscious.

In this hospital MacDermott was brought round and was discharged from the hospital. He made all possible haste to the home in Scotland to find that his wife had given up her home and come elsewhere, but where he did not know. He was not informed of the means of ascertaining her location seemed to be to send a cable to her relatives in America. This he did and received a reply that she was about to sail from Glasgow for London.

From the moment of a bride and groom which if told in a story book would subject the author to a charge of lunacy, what was so improbable is not to be legitimate fiction. In the way between the states there were cases of soldiers reported dead who were not even wounded. But now that every soldier carries on his person his name and other information concerning him, it would seem that the chances of error are he this eliminated. The captain MacDermott's being discovered possible permitted the story of a false story which was a fact while being contradicted.

The Last Straw. In the horrors of a siege women have been known to have their faces known to break down at the sight of a wrecked canary cage. —W. J. Locke in "Idols."

As his picture indicates, Teddy Roosevelt 3d is a wholesome and robust little lad. He is a great favorite of his famous grandfather and spends much of his time at the ex-president's home at Oyster Bay, N. Y. He is the son of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and is the third of his family to bear the well known name. The youngest Teddy is very fond of bathing and may frequently be seen sporting in the waves at Southampton, N. Y. It was at this resort that the camera man snapped Teddy 3d. He had just emerged from a ducking in the waves, but was good natured and willingly posed for his photograph. He is too young to swim as yet, but by this time next year, if he inherits the qualities of his grandfather, he will have acquired that accomplishment.

Proverb Puzzle.

In each of the following ten sayings a word of five letters is omitted. When these ten words are rightly guessed and placed one below another in the order here given the central letters reading downward will spell the name of a famous poet, who was born in February, 1809:

1. Idle — are always meddling.
2. A bird is — by its note and a man by his talk.
3. Make yourself all — and the flies will devour you.
4. A — is a fool's argument.
- 5 — a fool your finger and he will take your whole hand.
6. A small leak will sink a — ship.
7. A person's — ought to be his greatest secret.
8. He that shows his til temper — his enemy where he's hit him.
9. A rascal — has lost all his kindred.
10. Do as most do and — will speak ill of thee.

Answer.—Longfellow. Words—lokes, known, bony, fight, offer, great, folly, tells, grown, fewer.

A New Way to Play With the Sea. The traditional way to play with the surf is to dive through the breakers. There is, however, another game that is still more riotous fun and gives the waves a fairer chance.

The bather wades out to the line where the breakers begin to curl and the water is about shoulder deep and stands facing out to sea with his eye on the coming wave. Just before the wave begins to lift to form the breaker the bather throws himself on his back and floats in that way—head toward the shore, feet toward the sea. If he has judged time and distance correctly the curling breaker will pick up the bather, feet first, turn him heels over head and leave him standing on his feet, ready for the next wave. If he misjudges the timing or the distance—well, that is the same—the wave scores.

It takes large breakers to turn a grown man, as large breakers as people catch bathers in, but ordinary surf will do the trick for a boy.—Youth's Companion.

A Strange Word. There is a word in the dictionary which you may read forward or backward without changing it one iota, either in meaning or letters. Write the word out in capitals and analyze it. The letters are now in procession. Mother is in the lead, sister Ada is conspicuous in the center, while poor papa—the father of us all—is in the rear. Again, if children resemble the first part of this word they will be crazy, and if their boats go over the last part they will probably be drowned. What is this mysterious word?

Answer: Madam. Words: Ada, Adam, mad, dam.—Chicago News.

At the Telephone. Hello, hello! Is that you? This is little "Bessie" Blue. How are you today? I am feeling very well. Going downtown with Auntie Bell to the matinee.

Auntie says we'll see a show. About a boy who wouldn't grow. I'm to be a man. Teddy hears and fancies, too. I can scarcely wait, could you? I've called "Peter Pan."

Daddy, don't forget you said when you broke poor Daddy's head. And I didn't cry. You would get me a new doll with a hat and parasol. Don't forget, Daddy! —Philadelphia Record.

Undergraduate Philosophers. I remember one night when we sat up until three o'clock discussing the philosophy of prohibition over three bottles of port. I wonder how many other men have done the same thing! —Scribner's Magazine.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 27, 1915.

It was a very interesting case of "cold feet" which led the Constitutional Convention to reverse its action and decide not to adopt a literacy test for voters. There is no doubt whatever that a majority of delegates believe there should be such a test. In fact, it is difficult to find an unbeliever outside of the ranks of very newly made citizens, but it was thought that there were enough of the latter to endanger the passage of the Constitution as a whole. Even Senator Root is reported as being afraid. The fact is that constitutional conventions are in their nature inefficient. It would be far better never to have another one, but to alter our organic law one section at a time, as new conditions arise. This method has proved satisfactory with the United States Constitution. It is quite certain that a dozen changes which would be adopted by one vote would be defeated if voted on simultaneously, since the enemies of one section would vote against all.

If Bismarck were alive today he would view with intense satisfaction the admirable results of the protective tariff which his far-seeing mind led him to establish in 1879 and which has been scientifically developed ever since. In consequence, although hemmed in by enemies, Germany wants for nothing unless it be cotton, which no amount of protection would enable her to produce. Her factories and farms make her sufficient to herself. If free trade England were in like circumstances she would starve and many of her industries would have to suspend operations. In the United States, where we have some protection, and have fostered a considerable variety of industries, we should manage to get along somehow if our foreign communications were destroyed, but we have lost a tremendous amount of money because of the breaking off of our trade with Germany. The scarcity of dyestuffs has paralyzed several of our industries, although we can make just as good colors here as they do in Germany and would do so if our capitalists were insured against ruinous competition. Later on, it should be obvious to any ordinary mind that one of the chief features in the "preparedness" of which we hear so much nowadays should be the development of protection until we are as independent as Germany, and even more so.

But, according to free traders, if you protect a country's products by shutting out foreign competition, you tax the consumer and increase the cost of living. If this be so, it follows that when tariffs are reduced the cost of living should sink correspondingly. In fact, this very argument was inserted in the last Democratic National platform, coupled with a direct promise that under a Democratic tariff living expenses would be substantially reduced. Yet we read in that sound Democratic authority, the New York Times Annual Index Number that the wholesale prices of 25 leading articles of food for the first week in August, 1915, was 145.7, compared with 138.7 for the first week in August, 1914, under Republican law. The prices of all the chief necessities of life tell similar stories. We have thrown away our industrial independence without benefiting anybody.

At a recent convention of jewelers in New York City it was earnestly insisted by several speakers that there was no effeminacy in the wearing of a wrist watch by a man. Probably this is so, although it is curious that it should be necessary to mention it. Nobody would take the trouble to deny that it is effeminate to wear a watch in one's pocket. Yet, say what you will, it is a fact that it is inadvisable for a man to wear a wrist watch. It is not so undesirable as wearing earrings, but is just a trifle more unseemly than rings on male fingers. A man who displays ornaments on his person may possess an ideal character, but he will have to prove it to the strangers with whom he attempts to do business. The man who encroaches on the privileges reserved by common consent for women creates the impression that he is not just right somehow, precisely as does the woman who yelps for a chance to do man's work.

This same jeweler's convention listened to a lot of talk about the advantages of a man succeeding his father in business. We gather from the reports that a large number of jewelers are dissatisfied with the profits they make and in consequence encourage their sons to go into other occupations. This is manifestly bad all around. The convention did not realize, however, that jewelers are no different from other men in this respect. Almost everybody seems to think that his line of business is the hardest in the list and naturally wants his sons to tackle easier jobs. As a matter of fact, one situation in life has about as good opportunities as any other, if one only has eyes to see them. This being so, the best thing for any young man is to follow in the footsteps of his father, providing the latter has a reputation for enterprise and honest dealing, for that is something which may be inherited the same as money.

Not so long ago a canvass was made in some of our towns and cities to learn, so far as possible, the sentiment of men regarding the question of woman suffrage. And in one city, at least, some of the workers brought in the report that now and then their little query brought forth, not a direct yes or no, but a surprised counter-query—what do you mean? Because—it is hard to believe but perfectly true—they did not know that this fall the question would be put in serious form.

And since the time is fast drawing near when the people—meaning the voters, of course—will be asked to record their views at the polls in the only decisive way, one would like to say to the remnant of menfolk not yet awake that they better look up the question. And this, without any regard to what their verdict may be, once they are in a position to answer, either way.

Because, it has the appearance of ignorance to remain uninformed on a subject that is forging to the foreground of public interest and public concern. Time was when a shrug of the shoulders and a careless word, one way or the other, were accepted as standing for logic and arguments that might be uttered if the thing were worth while, but now that the voters themselves are involved, that sort of answer just looks—plainly uninformed.

Deciding wisely on any question is a matter of information, and what the practical public wants, or what it needs, is clear reasoning and plain facts. It is men, of course, who will do the deciding, and if, as some folk believe, they think that women, as voters, will inject into public and private affairs a harmful and hitherto unknown element, naturally enough they will say "no." And if, perchance, they believe that the participation of women in voting may be of benefit all around, they will give a different answer.

But whatever they do or leave undone, let us hope that their views may not be evolved through the mystic medium of inspiration, sentiment, self-interest or what-not. For it is a serious question, one affecting the whole public, not the voters alone, but the public made up of thinking, responsible men and women. And they, as the ones to decide, cannot afford to treat the thing lightly, without any basis of information. It is up to them (pardon the expression) to learn whether women, as factors in voting, in states where the suffrage is theirs, have helped or hindered laws protecting women and children, laws looking toward purer food and the healthfulness of social conditions generally.

And it is up to them to ask themselves what a republic means. And to vote in accordance with their findings. Quite likely, sooner or later, they will brush up against an interested somebody, either for or against, who understands something of the present status of the movement, is familiar with its history and has reason at her finger-tips. And they will feel, or they ought to, just a bit ridiculous to meet her arguments with the weak: "Oh, but we don't (or we do) believe in it!" For the question is out of the academic stage now and into the political.

Come to think of it a bit seriously, there's a smile, if not something worse, in the thought of some surprised voters being confronted at the polls, for the very first time, with the query, so big yet so little, "Shall women be permitted to enter the political family?" And what shall the answer be? FRANCES SHAFFER.

MARLBOROUGH'S OLD HOME WEEK

Marlborough's fourth "Old Home Week" was celebrated today and will be continued on Saturday and Sunday on the grounds of the Presbyterian Church. The various features of the program are more attractive this year than ever before and will repay a lengthy journey to see. Today was Children's Day. This afternoon there was a children's parade, led by Advance Lodge Band with sections including babies from six months to 3 years of age, children from 3 years to 7 years in character costumes, which was followed by a promenade and judging of the baby show on the grounds. At 3 o'clock a Mother Goose party and Fairies' Frolic was held and later an address was made by Harriet May Mills, a suffrage speaker. The grand parade will form in line on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock and will include the children's parade. Collins Band of Newburgh, as well as the Advance Lodge Band will furnish music. There will be a troop of horses and horsemen to represent those of the warring nations of Europe, and "War," "Peace," "Death," "Sorrow," "Want" and "Justice" will be impersonated. Floats have been entered by the various fraternal organizations in the town and by business men, farmers and fruit growers. The automobile section promises to be a noteworthy feature. Poultnery Bigelow of Malden will give an address that afternoon on "Europe and America." Both this evening and Saturday evening at 8 o'clock a pageant, "The Courtship of Miles Standish," will be given on the church grounds. Admission to the grounds will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children under 12 years.

On Sunday a union religious service will be held on the grounds, if stormy in Memorial Hall. All of the local clergy will take part and Advance Band will render appropriate selections. The general committee in charge of the arrangements for Old Home Week includes J. S. Carpenter, A. A. Weed, M. H. Clark, Frank Bang, W. V. Velie, Ralph P. Young, Mrs. David D. Taylor, Mrs. Cornelia Eckerson, Cornelius Eckerson, Frank L. Snyder, Fred Dunn and Howard Kniffin. The judges in the baby show were Mrs. Hawlett, Mrs. Layman and Miss Pierson. Harriet T. Tooker is chairman of the committee in charge of the children's parade and the Italian group will be arranged by Grace Benedict. Mrs. Cornelius Eckerson will direct the pageant Saturday evening. The financial proceeds of "Old Home Week" will be for the benefit of the Marlborough Free Library.

Olive Bridge, Aug. 26.—"Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown" will be played in the Tontine O. O. F. Hall on Thursday evening, September 2. If very stormy, then on Friday evening. After the play a salad supper will be served and ice cream and soft drinks will be on sale. Proceeds for the benefit of the M. E. Church. Between the acts music will be furnished by Miss Edna Merrihew, who's who—Mrs. Mollie Tubbs, the sunshine of Shantytown, Florence Davis, Miss Clingie Vine, real genteel, Ethel Roosa, Mrs. Ellen Hickey, who hates to gossip, Mabel Davis, Miss Campbell, the young school teacher, Nellie Bishop, Simon Rubbels, looking for a wife, George Bishop, Tom Riordan, census taker, Harley Bishop, Scuffles, Cora Belle Crawford, Billy Blossom, Alonzo Davis, Victoria Hortensia (Punky Dunks), Hazel Davis, Elmhira Hickey, Edna Crispell. Evolution. Strange things happen in this world. The greatest dealer in mules in the United States was killed in an automobile accident. Think of a man having to do with mules for forty years and coming out unscathed only to be whirled to glory by a pinhead chauffeur.—Houston Post. WEST SHOKAN. ANOTHER RUSSIAN

FORT CAPTURED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Aug. 27.—(By wireless)—
Oltta, a Russian fortress guarding the Niemen river between Kovno and Grodno, has been captured by the Germans. The fall of this city, on the Niemen opens the way for another drive toward Vilna, to the northeast, and Grodno, to the south. It is expected that Grodno will be evacuated by the Russians, as the general staff's official report states that German forces advancing on the east from Ossowiec have crossed the Przemska, a tributary of the Bobr. These troops are headed in the direction of Grodno.

Petrograd, Aug. 27.—Grodno is being evacuated. Only sufficient troops to delay the German advance are now left in the fortress. Military property has been removed.

ALPHONSE KOELBLE
AYS 40,000 GERMAN-AMERICANS
IN NEW YORK STATE WOULD NOT VOLUNTEER IN U. S.
SERVICE AGAINST GERMANY.

(Alphonse G. Koelble.)

New York Aug. 27.—Alphonse G. Koelble, lawyer and native born American, president of the German American Society of New York city and honorary president of the German-American Alliance of New York state, who returned from Germany on the 22nd, says that in the event of war between this country and Germany, he would not volunteer for service and the 40,000 members and upwards of the alliance would also refuse to carry arms against the Fatherland.

He added that the Germans were balking at a just cause. He said: "I think Germany has a right to sink every vessel, neutral or otherwise, which carries ammunition to the Allies. If the vessel carries neutral non-combatants—not without warning, of course, but after the warning—blow them to hell, every damn one of them."

He added that in case of a war with Germany, in which Germany were the aggressor, that he would fight for the United States and that every German-American in the alliance he represents would do the same. When he went to Germany this summer he travelled on the same ship with Dr. Dernburg, the Kaiser's former representative.

JOSEPH P. TUMULTY.

BERLIN PRESS SAYS TUMULTY "THREATENS."

(Joseph P. Tumulty.)

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Although further comment on the Arabic case has been dropped by the Berlin newspapers, they have published what purports to be a despatch to the "London Telegraph," quoting Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, as saying that Americans are united with the president, and will if necessary use their lives to maintain the inalienable rights of Americans on land and sea.

"The 'Kreuz Zeitung' says: 'Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, consists of using British passenger steamers.'"

The 'Times Zeitung' heads the article with the line, 'Wilson's Secretary Threatens.'

THE MAN IN THE BOX.

He Started but Did Not Unnerve the Express Car Messenger.

The messenger was alone in the express car, and the train was making fast time about 200 miles outside of San Francisco. At the last stop the messenger had been very sorry to see an ordinary rough box loaded from the truck. The experience was common enough, but it always depressed him a little.

Having set things to rights he sat down near his little writing desk and dozed off. A sudden lurch of the train roused him, and as he stretched himself awake, what was his consternation at seeing that the lid of the rough box was lifted about three inches.

Express messengers live in daily expectation of train robbers, and the thought flashed through his mind in the twinkling of an eye that one of these gentry was in the box.

As he got up from his chair he was relieved to see the lid quietly drop into place. However, he knew that the lid was not down, and he watched his every movement from a hole bored in the side of the box and that what he did he must do in haste.

Moving out of the hidden man's range of vision, he got his hands on a few odds and a hammer. Then he slowly worked his way through the lofty pile of packages, which he pretended to be rearranging, suddenly threw a heavy trunk on the lid of the rough box, jumped astride it and nailed down the lid securely. The unexpected robber leaped and struggled, but to no avail.

The messenger rushed to the rear of his car and looked back through the coaches. He could see the man's confederates "going through" the passengers, who held their hands aloft while a member of the gang "covered" them. The express car carried a valuable shipment, and the messenger determined to save it.

Grasping the lever that operated the automatic coupler, he put every ounce of strength he possessed into one terrific jerk. The drawheads parted, and a cry almost instantly issued between the express car and the coaches. Running back through his car, barring the door as he went, the messenger reached the front door and shouted to the engineer to open his throttle. The engine and the express car leaped forward, but not a minute too soon.

The bandits, emerging from the coaches, were insane with rage when they saw themselves foiled and poured volley after volley from their rifles into the fast fleeing car.

From the next station a coach and engine with a posse armed to the teeth went back to the relief of the stalled train, from which the bandits had long since fled. The express car and engine, under a heavy police guard, proceeded to San Francisco. The bandit was unboxed at the police station, and an ugly looking customer he proved to be. He got a sentence of twenty years in the penitentiary.—Wells-Fargo Messenger.

Compulsory Drinking.

Compulsory abstinence would have seemed a complete inversion of the natural order to some of our ancestors. They believed in compulsory drinking, and in some old county manor houses may still be seen, I believe, a ring let into the wall of the dining hall for the punishment of the man who would not or could not drink his allotted share of liquor.

The culprit's arm was fixed in the ring, and he was given choice of drinking in the ordinary way or having the liquor be refused poured down his sleeve; hence the medieval jest, "Leaving's sleeving."—London Standard.

Animated Scenery.

Of sanctuaries for the eighteenth century, the value of the theater must not be overlooked. As long as the actor was in the bounds of the playhouse he was safe. There was John Palmer, for instance, who lived in his dressing room at Drury Lane for months. But engagements, even at Drury Lane, come to an end, and at length Palmer was required at the Haymarket. The journey was a dangerous one. Necessity, however, always fosters invention. They packed him in a cabinet, put the cabinet in a cart and called him "scenery."

Wasn't the Uniform.

A sailor under the influence of liquor went to the main entrance of a New York theater recently and presented a ticket. The manager refused to admit him, telling him that his money would be refunded at the box office.

"Don't you respect your country's uniform?" asked the libulous one.

"Sure," retorted the manager. "Take it off and I'll put it in a stage box."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Infatigable.

"Do you believe that there is really something which can invariably tell when a man is lying?"

"I know it."

"Ah, perhaps you have seen one of the instruments?"

"Seen one? I married one."—Houston Post.

Dying Without a Will.

In the event of one's dying intestate the heirs come in for their share of the estate as established by the laws of the particular state in which the property is found. In the event of no will and no heirs the property goes to the state.—New York American.

Time to Quit.

Chief. Who did Bunzaleer reform? Thief. The last safe he drilled and blew open only contained a picture postcard of the state prison.—Judge.

He that would eat the kernel must crack the nut.—Persian Proverb.

BALLROOM PATHOS.

Tragedy of the Yearning Heart That Was Left to Itself.

The fourth dance was nearly over, and she was still sitting by the wall, her hands clasped in her lap and her blank program dangling at her side. The expression of pleasure which had been spontaneous at the beginning of the evening had become fixed and strained through the long period of waiting. At last the music ceased, and the dancers, flushed and laughing, scattered about the hall.

The girl rose stiffly and tried to mingle with the crowd. A few acquaintances nodded absently, then moved away. Bold in her distress, she eluded her way into a noisy group and laid her hand timidly upon the arm of one of the girls.

"That's a pretty dress, Marie," she said, trying to smile. "Thank you. Are you having a good time?" "Love!" she answered, with a brave attempt to smile. Her friend hesitated, then turned deliberately to her own cot.

The wall flower stood awkwardly outside the closed circle, then pushed toward another group. The music started up; there was mad confusion, and the girl was caught in a scuffle of young men finding their partners. Left alone in the middle of the floor and "rotted" by the dancers, there was nothing for her to do but seek the wall again.

Her cheeks burned in confusion as she found herself again surrounded by vacant chairs. She moved to the side of two girls sitting farther down the hall. For a moment she felt less conspicuous. But both girls were claimed by their partners, and she was left alone against the wall. Pretty girl glanced at her with genuine pity; girls of uncertain popularity eyed her scornfully as they passed.

At last, blinded by a rush of hot tears, she arose and went from the music and merriment into the silence of the deserted dressing room. — San Francisco Bulletin.

CHEERFULNESS.

Cheerfulness means a contented spirit; it means a pure heart; it means a kind and loving disposition; it means charity; it means a generous appreciation of others and a modest opinion of oneself. Stupid people, people who do not know how to laugh, are always pompous and self-conceited—that is, bigoted; that is, cruel; that is, ungentle, uncharitable.

BENEVOLENCE.

There is no just action, no kind word, no obliging demeanor, no charity, no hospitality, that springs from selfishness which shall not have its penalty, inasmuch as it corrupts the character, and there is no kindness, no forbearance, no generosity, no charity, that springs from disinterested benevolence which has not its remuneration, for it makes men better, nobler and purer.

A TRIPLE SCARE

By SADIE OLCOTT

Mrs. Carpenter returned from shopping and rang the bell of her dwelling. The maid who admitted her looked at her, surprised.

"What's the matter, Ellen?" asked the mistress.

"La, mums! I thought you'd come in and was upstairs."

Mrs. Carpenter thought nothing of this. The maid went back to the kitchen, and the lady went up to her room. Standing before a dresser was—herself!

Mrs. Carpenter put her hand to her forehead, then rested it on the doorpost for support. Her double was arranging her toilet, looking at herself in a mirror. On hearing some one at the door she turned her face and, seeing Mrs. Carpenter, exclaimed:

"My gracious!"

"Who-o-o are you?" asked Mrs. Carpenter, gasping.

"Who are you?" was the reply.

"I'm Margaret Carpenter."

"So am I!"

There was an interval of silence, during which each woman regarded the other with obvious terror. The woman before the glass showed signs of fainting.

"Oh, my heavens!" she cried. "Have I lost my mind?"

"Do go away!" begged Mrs. Carpenter.

"Go away yourself. What do you mean by coming into my house, as though you were I? Oh, my! Can it be that?"

She looked again at Mrs. Carpenter, then turned her face in her hands. The latter staggered to the head of the stairs, held tight to the banister, descended and tottered into the kitchen.

"Ellen!" she moaned.

"What is it, mums?" asked the girl, frightened at her mistress' appearance.

"Who is it upstairs?"

"I don't know, mums. You came in ten minutes ago and went to your room, and now you have come in again."

"Then there really is some one there. I'm not alone!"

"I don't know, mums. I'll go and see."

"Do," moaned the mistress.

Ellen ran upstairs and was back again in a couple of minutes looking much troubled. She was very pale.

"I knew it," cried Mrs. Carpenter. "I've received a stroke. Oh, Ellen!"

and she fell back into a chair.

There was a sound of a latchkey in the front door, and Mr. Carpenter walked in. He saw the swish of a skirt on the landing above. His wife had fainted in the kitchen, and the maid was trying to keep her from falling to the floor. Mr. Carpenter went upstairs to his wife's room and saw her standing before the dresser. He was surprised to see the blinds closed.

"Why, my dear," he exclaimed, "why shut out the light?"

"I'm afraid I've had something break in my brain."

"Repeat to me again? What do you mean?"

"I've seen myself."

"In the mirror, of course."

"No standing in the doorway where you are now. It's gone."

"Vanished?"

"No! It went downstairs."

"Calm yourself. Some one who resembles you was here."

He approached her, but she drew away. "Go downstairs," she said, "and see if I am there." He stood irresolute for a moment, and she gave him an appealing look. "Steady, my dear." She sank on the lounge. "I'll be back in a moment. You have mistaken some one for yourself."

He ran down the stairs, passed into the living room, then the dining room, and pushing a swinging door, stood in the kitchen. There on a chair, pale as a ghost, supported by the maid, was his wife. She gave him an appealing glance.

"Oh, Henry," she cried, "I'm afraid something awful has happened to me!"

"Great Scott!" cried the man. "I'm afraid something awful has happened to me!"

"Yes, she's gone!"

"Are you Margaret or is the woman upstairs Margaret?"

"Then there is really some one there?"

"A woman who looks exactly like you, only the blinds are closed and I couldn't see distinctly."

An explanation occurred simultaneously to both Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter. Mrs. Carpenter righted herself. The front door was heard to close. Mr. Carpenter ran into the hall and opened the door just in time to see the swish of a skirt around the corner. He stood thinking, then ran upstairs into his wife's room and opened a tin box in which his wife kept her jewels. It was empty. Going to the landing, he called:

"Margaret, come up here."

Mrs. Carpenter, considering the fright she had been under, went upstairs and into her room with remarkable rapidity. There stood her husband with her empty jewel box in his hands.

"You've been fooled," he said.

"How—where—what?"

"Some woman resembling you has snared you out of your wits and taken your jewels."

"The horrid thing!"

The police were put on the case and the woman was arrested, but the jewels were not recovered. The thief had seen Mrs. Carpenter and, struck with the likeness to herself, had resolved to play a game for some plunder. And she played it well.

Rub with a piece of ripe tomato and then rinse well in cold water. Wash and boil, or put a little red ink on the mark and wash. The acid dissolves the iron in the ink and sets free the tanning or coloring matter, which will wash out.

Sharpening a Pencil.

The Way a Child Does It Is an Index to Its Character.

It is very often the little things that children do which give the best indication of what their future characters will be. Schoolteachers, for instance, have a first rate opportunity for watching the different traits in the children who come before them. In their work and in their play the sort of man or woman the child will become is daily unfolded. In such a small matter even as the sharpening of a pencil valuable hints may be obtained by any one in the least observant. Here it may easily be discovered whether a boy or girl is careful, destructive, wasteful or economical.

The boy, for instance, who sharpens his pencil into a stub is inclined to be economical, careful and quick in after life. The boy or girl who takes an inordinately long time to make a slender point, cutting very precisely and regularly all the time will usually prove to be of an artistic and dreamy disposition. The child who, regardless of the look of the pencil, rouses out great pieces in order to get to the lead will show impulsiveness and generosity.

Mere destructiveness, however, becomes apparent when a child takes a delight in sticking his knife in his pencil and splitting it or destroying it in some other way.

Parents, watch your children when sharpening their pencils, and correct and advise them accordingly. — Pearson's Weekly.

CARLYLE'S FIRST LOVE.

She May Have Been the Blumline of "Sartor Resartus."

During the year 1818 Thomas Carlyle, the Scotch philosopher, was living at Kirkcaldy, and he seems then for the first time to have fallen in love. The lady appears not to have returned the attachment, although she, with great insight, at the age of twenty-two, perceived the genius of her suitor of twenty-five.

In the letter in which she took leave of her admirer she used these significant expressions: "Cultivate the milder dispositions of your heart, subdue the more extravagant visions of the brain. . . . Genius will render you great. May virtue render you beloved. Let your light shine before men, and think them not unworthy this trouble."

Many years after, when Carlyle wrote his reminiscences, he described the episode. He says that Margaret Gordon "continued for, perhaps, some three years a figure hanging more or less in my fancy, on the usual romantic and latterly quite elegiac and silent terms."

The real interest of the story is: Was Margaret Gordon the original of the Blumline of "Sartor Resartus?" One critic would have us answer that, although Jane Welsh might have inspired some of the details, it was Margaret Gordon who was the true original. — New York Telegram.

SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Aug. 27.—Claude
 Berry, catcher for the Pittsburgh Reds, tells this one:"One day while I was catching for the Dallas (Tex.) team a runner on first started to steal second. I perceived toward the base but our pitcher —Walker—had moved out of the box after he delivered the ball, and walked right into the throw.""The ball hit Walker on top of the head, and as Walker dropped to the ground the ball bounded high in the air. The runner had reached second by that time, and not seeing the ball in play raced for third. But our shortstop saw the ball, caught it as it came down and whipped it to third in time to put out the runner.""The official scorer credited three men with an assist. He gave me an assist because I had made the original throw, he gave one to the pitcher because his head had deflected the ball to the short stop, and, of course, he gave one to the shortstop for making the throw to third."

Berry's Claim to Fame.

Berry, by the way, is believed to be the only catcher now in the big leagues who jumped into a grandstand after a foul ball—and caught it. He performed the trick when he was in San Francisco in 1908.Berry's other claim to fame is that during the season of 1908-1909 in California covering a stretch of 12 months—he caught 334 games, while with the San Francisco team. That means he worked nearly every day for a year.

Thrown Ball Breaks Jaw.

Neal Ball, once with the Indians and Red Sox, broke a base runner's jaw with a thrown ball during a game between the Bloomington (Ills.) and Cedar Rapids (Iowa) teams seven or eight years ago.Ball was playing second base. The other team had runners on first and third. A zipping grounder was hit toward Ball and the man on third raced for home while the man on first —O'Connor by name—scooted for second.Ball made a dazzling stop of the grounder and threw toward home.
 O'Connor ran right into the ball, it caught him flush on the jaw and broke the bone in three places.

Tobin Stars in Outfield.

One of the most brilliant youngsters in the Federal League is Johnny Tobin, the fleet outfielder of the St.
 Louis club.Tobin, who is 21 years old, was a pitcher until the latter part of the 1914 season. He played on the sand lots and with some prep school teams in St. Louis. In 1913 he was offered a job with the Stouffville and accepted it.It was seen that Tobin's physique could not stand the strain of big league pitching. He was too small and too light. But he looked like a real ball player, and Fielder Jones decided to try him in outfield.Tobin was an immediate success as an outfielder. He can cover ground with the fleetness of a jack-rabbit, he's a wonderful fielder and thrower, and he's one of the timeliest hitters
 in the Gilmore circuit.

Bad Year For Managers.

The determination of the Federal League leaders to get managers who can make their men play real baseball has caused three shifts in club management since the 1915 season opened.Bill Phillips, who piloted the Newark Peppers, was the first to go, following an argument with one of his bosses over the running of the team.
 Larry Schaffly was next to walk the plank, being succeeded at Buffalo by Harry Lord. And now it is Lee Magee, of the Brookfields, who casts off his managerial mantle and resumes life as a mere ball player.
